By DON BRYANT

Every football season opener brings something new and different, along with many portions of the older and more familiar traditions.

Nebraska's 1971 opener is no exception.

While Oregon is no stranger to Nebraska football fans because we've met twice before, it's been almost 20 years since the second meeting back in 1953. The Ducks won that televised contest, 20-12, as Bill Glassford's Cornhuskers spent more time taping on their thigh pads than chasing the hot-footing Oregon backs. One year earlier, Nebraska visited Oregon and won, 28-13, so today's match between two of the nation's finest teams—both have expectations of Top 10 ranking and the Huskers are defending national champs—is the rubber game of the series.

Coach Jerry Frei is starting his fifth year at Oregon and has assembled one of the most exciting and dramatic entries in the Western Athletic Conference. Last year the Ducks created havoc by knocking off UCLA, USC and Air Force enroute to a fine 6-4-1 record. The stars of that outstanding team return: Quarterback Dan Fouts, Tailback Bobby Moore and Linebacker Tom Graham.

Coach Bob Devaney opens his 10th campaign at Nebraska (his record a brilliant: 79-18-1, by the way) with many of the stars who helped the Cornhuskers run up a 19-game streak without a loss, a 11-0-1 record in 1970, a sixth Big 8 title in nine years, a rousing Orange Bowl victory over LSU and the national championship.

It all shapes up as a football opener should. There's nothing to match the fun, excitement, glamour, color and excellent play of college football, and no opener in the nation this fall can surpass the quality of today's match-up between the Oregon Ducks and the Nebraska Cornhuskers.

Ralph Beechner Steps Down

"If you walk, walk safely and if you drive, drive safely."

Those words may ring out over the Memorial Stadium public address at the conclusion of today's game, but not in the same old way they have for the past 30 years.

Ralph Beechner, director of athletics for the Lincoln Public Schools, has stepped down from the PA booth for the 1971 season while he recovers from sight problems that developed last winter.

Taking over the PA duties this fall will be Phil Sprague, director of athletics at Lincoln East High School and an old hand at the sports mike. In addition to handling high school sports PA duties for years, Sprague—former gymnastics star at NU and an outstanding gymnastic gym coach at Lincoln High—was the Sherman Field "Voice of the Chiefs" back in the Western League and Three-I League eras of Lincoln professional baseball. Sprague has long been a member of "Beech's" PA team at Nebraska games.

University Titles, Faces Change

The University of Nebraska is starting the school year with some new titles and faces in top administrative posts at the system and campus levels.

First of all, D. B. Varner is no longer chancellor. He is president of the University of Nebraska System by action of the Board of Regents. President Varner is the chief executive officer of the University. In that capacity, he is responsible to the Board of Regents for all University activities on the Lincoln and Omaha campuses as well as across Nebraska.

The individual campus administrators used to be known as presidents. Now, they are campus chancellors and also vice presidents of the University of Nebraska. The latter title is to reflect their responsibility to the total University. At the present time, search committees are nominating persons for permanent chief administrative positions on the three campuses in Omaha and Lincoln. The Board of Regents will make the final selections.

Dr. Cecil Wittson's title has been changed from president to chancellor of the University Medical Center in Omaha and vice president of the University. He plans to retire in 1972.

Dr. John V. Blackwell is the new interim chancellor of the University of Nebraska at Omaha and interim vice president of the University.

PRESIDENT D. B. VARNER
University of Nebraska

Dr. C. Peter Magrath is the new interim chancellor of the NU campuses in Lincoln and out-state activities and interim vice president of the University.

In his new post, Dr. Magrath succeeds Dr. Joseph Soshnik as interim administrator for the Lincoln campuses. Dr. Soshnik resigned September 1 to enter private business in Omaha.

A native of New York City, Dr. Magrath came to NU in 1968 as dean of the College of Arts and Sciences. He was named dean of faculties in 1969 with primary responsibility in the area of academic affairs. He served on the faculty at Brown University from 1961 until 1968 including one year as associate dean of the Graduate School. The author of five books in political science and higher education, he has specialized in the general area of American politics.

Dr. Blackwell succeeds Dr. Kirk Naylor as interim administrator of the University of Nebraska at Omaha. Dr. Naylor has returned to full time teaching and research as a professor of education at UNO.

Formerly of Yale, Oklahoma, Dr. Blackwell came to UNO as head of the art department in 1958 after serving as a professor of art and gallery supervisor at Ball State University. In 1970 he was named acting dean of the UNO College of Arts and Sciences and was elected dean in January 1971. He served two terms as president of the UNO Faculty Senate and is a member of the coordinating committee for the University system.

Dr. Wittson was named president of the University Medical Center in 1968. He became the first director of the Nebraska Psychiatric Institute in 1950 and was named dean of the College of Medicine in 1964. During his tenure, he has brought national and international recognition to the Medical Center. He has played a key role in recent growth of the Medical Center in terms of instructional programs, research, public service, and physical facilities.

NU Foundation Receives Record Gifts

The University of Nebraska Foundation recorded gifts totaling $3.7 million this past year, the largest amount in its 35-year-history.

Harry R. Haynie said this is the first time that the Foundation has surpassed the $3 million mark in gifts, and "then by some $700,000." He said assets now stand at $15.7 million, an increase of nearly $2 million in one year.

Other highlights of the year:

—$2.5 million in benefits to the University, including the Miskill Memorial Pipe Organ and Broyhill Memorial Fountain on the Lincoln Campuses.

—11,093 alumni donors during the year, an increase of 72, plus an additional 2,504 non-alumni, organizations, companies and other foundations.

—$1,124,598 in bequests from estates of alumni.

—$278,213 in student loans outstanding, an increase of $63,000 over the previous year.

Drop in Alumni Gifts

Haynie said the record gift total was recorded despite a drop in gifts from living alumni, from $676,000 in 1969 to $390,000 in 1970. He attributed the decrease to the declining stock market, "since our larger gifts from individual alumni usually come in the form of securities."

With the depressed stock market, the larger gifts were few and far between, he said. "In 1970, the largest gift from a living alumnus was $15,000 . . . a far cry from the top gift of $200,000 received the previous year.

"Despite this drop in alumni gifts, the number of alumni donors increased to a record number. This is an indication that the alumni still believe in our program. It is in contrast to severe drops in donors reported by many other schools . . . schools which have been centers of student unrest."

He reported that several private foundations in Nebraska dissolved last year as the result of the Tax Reform Act of 1969, transferring their entire assets to the University Foundation.

"The University Foundation is administering these funds for the benefit of the University and according to the wishes of the donors who originally established the private foundations. Even the names are retained within the University Foundation." He pointed out that the Tax Reform Act encourages such transfers.

Foundation benefits to the University in 1970 included: $1,284,086, research projects; $507,658, scholarships; $151,544, research equipment; $136,098, fellowships; $118,255, professorships; $70,608, University and faculty support; $39,101, economic education program; $39,174, Sheldon Art Gallery; $25,000, part payment toward Miskell Memorial Pipe Organ; $17,500, School of Journalism research projects; $15,141, Medical College Library; $12,050, University State Museum; $10,000, Centennial College; $10,000, Woods Fellowships in Humanities; $9,600, College of Agriculture judging team awards; and $8,000, College of Engineering and Architecture projects.

NEBRASKA

Nebraska meat now is being delivered by air to European restaurants.

NU engineers have pioneered in automated irrigation and water reuse.

Nebraska has the potential for being the richest agricultural state in the nation.

The keys are irrigation and animal production.

Nebraska is blessed with a bountiful supply of water, both surface and underground. The sources of water for irrigation still have far to go before they are fully developed. In addition, Nebraska has much good land still not irrigated.

There are now about 4 million irrigated acres in the state. However, Nebraska has more than 19 million acres of land identified by soil type and topography as having some potential for irrigation.

In addition, there are several million acres in the Sandhills not identified in this classification, plus land elsewhere in Nebraska once thought too rough for irrigation. Development of center pivot irrigation systems is permitting irrigation of sandy soils and rough land.

Changing land from dryland to irrigation has an impact of about $300 an acre on the Nebraska economy, according to a study published in 1968 by the University of Nebraska Bureau of Business Research.

Just doubling the present 4 million irrigated acres could bring in an additional $2.4 billion a year to the state.

Production of field crops is just a start, however.

About 50 percent of Nebraska's feed grains are being shipped to other states, where they bolster other economies as feed for livestock.

At present feed grain production rates, feeding in Nebraska the grain now shipped out would have a massive impact on the state's economy.

COULD BE NUMBER 1 IN AGRICULTURE

The livestock industry now brings more than $1 billion a year into Nebraska. Doubling this return would easily be possible by using our own feed grains in our own state.

The 10 million tons of grain now lost to the state, if converted to table-ready meat, has wealth generating capacity equal to 1,800 small industrial plants, each employing 100 people.

These figures are based on present day crop production. Add to these more productive new crop varieties and improved management practices that will come out of University of Nebraska research in the future.

The possibilities are so vast as to be hardly believable.

Feeding more cattle means expanding the feed industry.

River water makes irrigation possible in western Nebraska.

TV FOOTBALL ... of Rules, Rain and Ratings

by BEANO COOK, ABC-TV Sports

ROONE ARLEDGE

President and Executive Producer of ABC Sports

On the 28th floor of ABC Television's office in New York, there is a saying which goes, "If you think the network did a good job in picking this season's college football schedule for television, send all congratulatory mail to Chuck Howard, vice-president of program production, and Jim Spence, vice-president of program planning. If you don't like the schedule, blame Roone Arledge, President of ABC Sports."

See, my friend, it really boils down to one person, Arledge. He makes the final decision. Take the 1969 schedule. When he talked to Darrell Royal of Texas and Frank Broyles of Arkansas about playing the first Saturday in December instead of the middle of October, Royal asked, "Why?"

"It will be for the national championship," replied Arledge casually.

"What about Ohio State?" said Royal. In 1968, the Buckeyes swept to the national title and nearly every key player was returning.

"They will lose," said Arledge. "Don't worry about that. Your game will be for No. 1."

Everybody thought Arledge was nuts, including all the pre-season experts who saw no way Ohio State could lose. Well, as the season progressed, it seemed as if Arledge had been wrong and the game between Texas and Arkansas would be just for No. 2 and for the Southwest Conference title. After Ohio State walloped Purdue on national television, only Michigan remained for the Buckeyes, who were called by some, "the greatest team ever." A reporter asked Arledge what he thought.

"Look, Ohio State plays at Michigan and 100,000 screaming fans will mean the difference."

As Arledge watched the Ohio State-Michigan game on television, he really didn't believe what he saw. "Look, I thought Ohio State would lose, but when it came down to just one game, I had my doubts."

Arledge, Spence and Howard picked the 1971 television schedule for ABC. The National Collegiate Athletic Association Television Committee only verifies that the schedule meets the criteria of the television plan as voted by the members of the NCAA.

In the early fifties, the NCAA wisely formed a Television Committee, which has closely watched the effect live television has on attendance. Many critics, especially sportswriters, criticize the NCAA for not allowing the network to pick any game. Yet, when television was not controlled, attendance declined. The press blames television for killing boxing, but also criticizes the NCAA when it tries to supervise the televising of college games so the live gate won't decline rapidly.

In recent years, the Television Committee has given ABC more flexibility, especially for late-season games. Sometimes Arledge feels frustrated. When he thinks he has the schedule completed, he notices that a team isn't eligible because of previous appearances on the schedule.

"I remember when we called California to request an earlier start for a certain game," recalled Arledge. "After the call, somebody noticed that California already was on the schedule the maximum number of times permitted. Anyway, we were saved when California called back and said it couldn't accommodate our request. I was quite happy over the refusal."

The general public becomes confused over the various rules, but as a guideline, here are some basic ones to remember. The rules start in the even years. No team can now appear more than four times in two years, or more than three times in one year. No team can appear on national television more than two times in one year. There are no blackouts. There are a few remifications to these rules, such as a team can benefit just once in two years from the wildcard game.

Since this year's schedule came in the odd year, Arledge, Howard and Spence had to check the previous year's schedule to be positive that no team would exceed the limit of appearances for a two-year period. When this trio made the schedule, the national dates were completed first. (There are 12 national games and six regional weekends. Each station receives a total of 18 games.)

Then came the 24 games for the regional weekends. "You run into problems but none as rough as having universities move dates, although sometimes you can't blame an athletic director for not switching a date," said Arledge. "However, on some occasions, we are against the wall and must ask institutions to cooperate. In most cases, the athletic directors have been great."

Via the regional weekend games, ABC fulfilled many of the obligations of the contract, such as including at least 12 independent teams on the schedule, and ensuring the required appearances for each major conference for the two-year period.

"I would rate this year's schedule the most difficult one to make in six years because of the problems we faced late in the season," said Arledge. "Yet, I think we will do well ratings-wise, and will provide games of considerable interest and attractiveness regularly."

Under Arledge's brilliant leadership, viewership of NCAA football reached new peaks in 1970.

"If the large cities could have a snowstorm on two straight Saturdays in September, it would help. And if the national games are closer than they were last year, I think 1971 could be a super year. We are the only people who pray for rain for the entire country every Saturday, except at the site of the TV game."

"When it rains on Saturday, several million more fans watch college football on television, and that's good for ABC, the advertisers and college football."

Husker Fans May See Special Sky Show

The University's Mueller Planetarium is again this year scheduling Sky Shows for NU football fans.

These special programs at the planetarium, located in Morrill Hall at 14th and U, begin at 11 a.m. on the Saturday mornings of all home football games.

A show entitled "Everything You Always Wanted to Know About the Planetarium" is scheduled the 18th and 25th of September and the 2nd and 26th of October. A spooky "Halloween Night in the Planetarium" program is on tap for Oct. 30, and on Nov. 6 the show will be "Secrets of the Stars."

Just a week before the Cornhuskers play in Hawaii, a special show has been arranged to give fans who might be making that trip a preview of what they can see in the night skies from the islands.

The special Football Saturday shows at 11 a.m. were started last year for grid fans who are on the campus Saturday morning and might like something interesting to do. The programs last about 45 minutes.

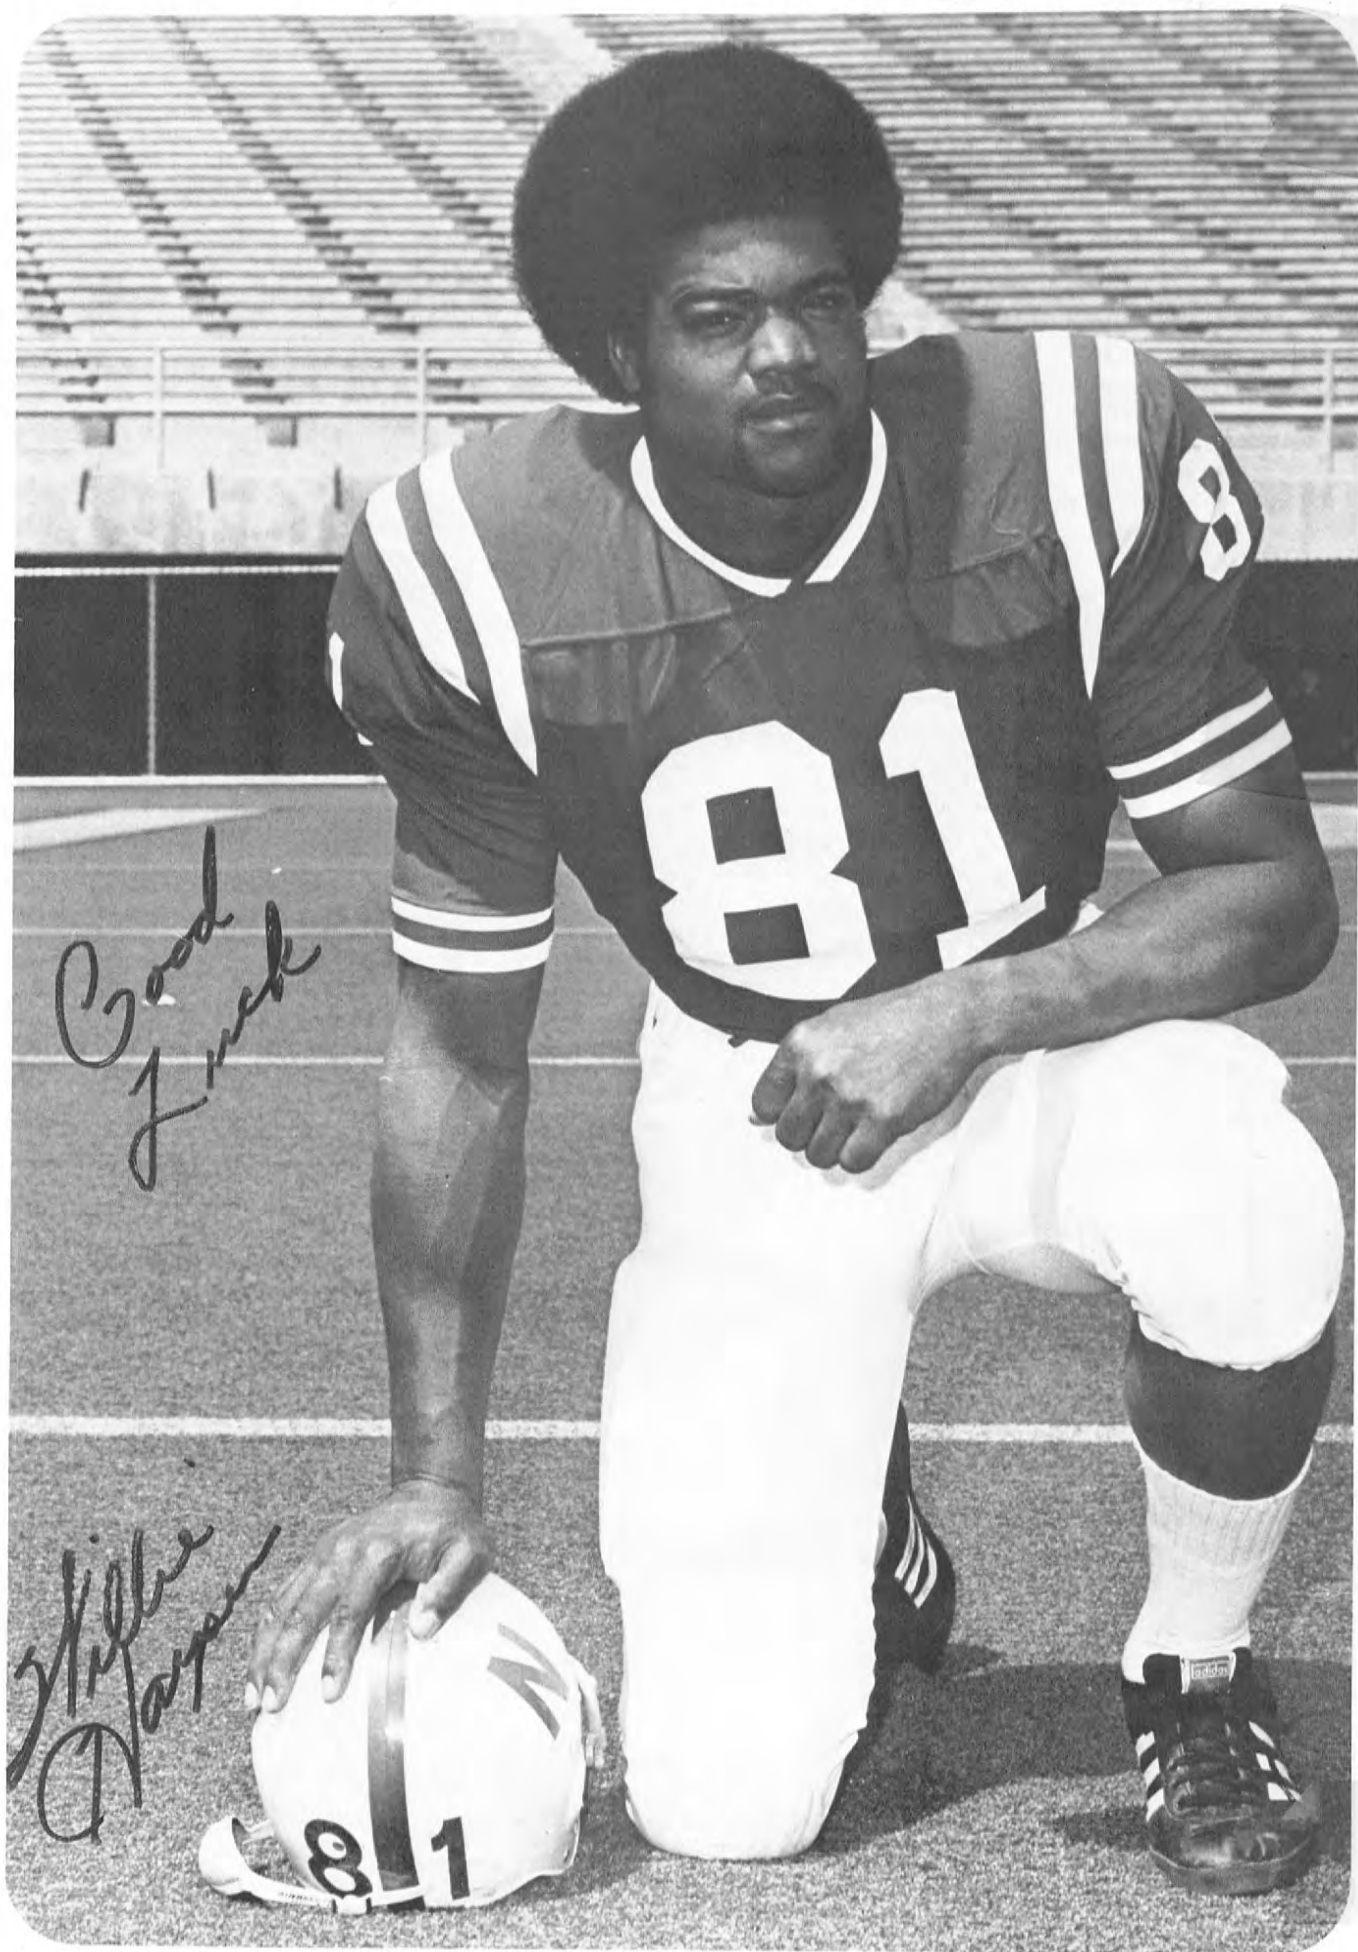

The "Everything You Always

Wanted to Know About the Planetarium" program will explore the planetarium itself. Explanations will be given of the strange-looking equipment, of how the night sky illusions are created and how the planetarium is used.

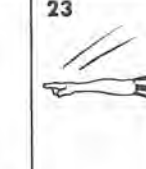

Regular shows are held on Sundays at 2:30 and 3:45 p.m. and at 2:30 p.m. Saturday when there is no football game on the campus. The planetarium is also heavily used by University classes and visiting school groups who make arrangements for special programs.

Young people and adults enjoy the wide variety of sky shows presented in the Mueller Planetarium located in Morrill Hall. Cornhusker football fans can view special shows at 11 a.m. on Saturday mornings of all home football games.

COLLEGIATE COMMISSIONERS ASSOCIATION

Early in 1939 five college football commissioners established an organization for the purpose of attacking mutual problems. From that small beginning has grown what is now the Collegiate Commissioners Association, its members the chief executive officers and their assistants from the eleven major college conferences from coast to coast. Representing nearly 300 institutions, they range in size from the seven-member Mid-American Conference to the mammoth 190-member Eastern College Athletic Conference.

The CCA's field of interest has broadened greatly since its inception, now encompassing not only football, but all sports on the collegiate program. The members as such give united attention not alone to officiating assignment and rules interpretation, but also to procedures on undergraduate athletic recruitment and eligibility and to the many other facets of intercollegiate sports administration.

A GREAT RUNNER.

You expect a little car to be a good sprinter. Nimble, light on its feet, fine for short runs around town.

Vega is all that.

But what sets Vega apart is that it's one little car that's good on long runs too.

One reason is its relatively large 140-cubic-inch overhead cam engine. It can cruise comfortably at turnpike speeds without straining, and with power to spare.

Vega is built low to the ground, and wide, so it takes curves without a lot of lean and hangs onto a windy highway like it weighed a whole lot more.

The steering is easy. Yet firm and reassuring on straight stretches.

What we're saying is, for an economy car, Vega sure feels a lot like a sports car.

Get into one soon and see. It'll give you a good run for your money.

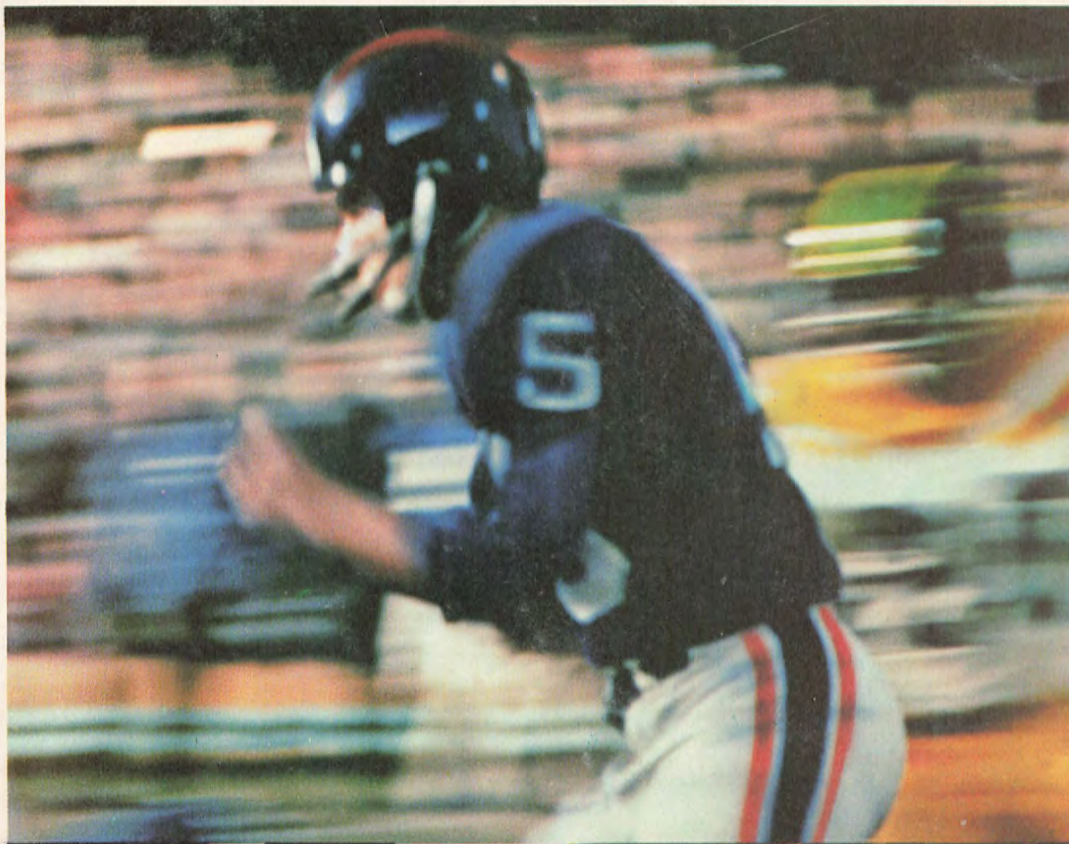

Great runner meets great runner. Former Heisman Trophy winner O.J. Simpson behind the wheel of a Vega Hatchback Coupe.

Buckle your seat and shoulder belts.
It's an idea you can live with.

Olympic Sports Athletes Set For Long "Year"

This is another "Olympic Games Year." Automatically, increased attention will be focused on the "other" sports. Somehow, the development of "our" teams in these seldom-talked-about and seldom-seen sports will creep into sports conversations.

For swimming, track, wrestling, gymnastics, and most other Olympic Games sports, progress checks come but once every four years. Of the sports on the Olympic Games, only basketball, in this country, approaches a local or regional focal level which the athletes deserve.

The same is true everywhere, including the Big Eight Conference, with the possible exception of wrestling. Each year, Conference athletes excel, win national championships and international acclaim in these sports, but . . .

It is not surprising that Big Eight athletes in these "other" sports have long enjoyed a higher standing internationally than they have in their own country, Conference, and even their own institution.

Big Eight athletes in these Olympic Games sports have won 315 national collegiate championships, in addition to numerous other U.S. titles of the National Federation and AAU varieties. Of the 57 national collegiate team titles won by Conference institutions, 54 of them have been won by the Olympic sports team.

In NCAA competition, the last decade has been the one of gold for the Big Eight. During that 10-year span, the Big Eight has scored 24 team championships. During that same period, 125 individual titles have been won by Big Eight representatives.

Wrestling and track, two of the more popular sports on the Olympic Games' list, have contributed the most team and individual national titles to the Big Eight collection.

Since the first national wrestling meet was held at Iowa State in 1928, 169 gold medals and 36 of the 41 team championships have been won by Big Eight athletes and teams. Internationally, 46 Conference wrestlers have competed in the Olympic Games since 1928, including nine gold medalists.

Big Eight representation in the Olympic Games has been even more frequent in track, with the Big Eight total now numbering 56 who have competed in 65 events, including the unsurpassed Kansas great, Al Oerter, who stands as the only individual to win his event at four Olympiads. Oerter started his string in the discus in 1956 at Melbourne, won again in Rome, then Tokyo, and in 1968 at Mexico City. Two others, Missouri's Jackson Scholz, a sprinter turned author who won two gold medals, and Kansas State's Ray Watson, a middle-distance runner, participated in three sets of Games.

It takes talented and highly dedicated coaches to develop these individuals in the "other" sports, but quite often Big Eight coaches, drawing on their experience and long-range success, have been tapped to lead U.S. teams in international competition, including the Olympic Games.

At the top must be Oklahoma State's Henry Iba. Who could forget the tremendous tasks he faced (followed by the subsequent success) in 1964 at Tokyo and in 1968 at Mexico City? The only man to serve as U.S. basketball coach twice, he'll be trying to put together a unit to win a third time next year in Munich.

This record, itself, indicates the quality of the overall intercollegiate program existing today in the Big Eight.

Now it is another Olympic year. What lies ahead for Big Eight athletes competing in the Olympic sports on the Conference's list—track and field, basketball, swimming, wrestling, and gymnastics?

These athletes face one of the longest years of their careers. There will be continual training for the first of the Olympic trials in the various sports, and then the Olympics themselves (August 26-September 10) for those of exceptional ability.

A starting point will be the meets and matches, including the various Big Eight championships, beginning with the cross country meet November 6 at Nebraska. The Conference wrestling meet will be at Oklahoma State, February 25-26, followed by the indoor track championships in Kansas City on March 3-4, the swimming meet at Missouri on March 2-4, the gymnastics championships at Kansas, March 17-18, and the outdoor track and field meet (plus tennis and golf) at Kansas State on May 19-20. The building toward the dreamed-of-Olympic spot will continue through the various national meets and qualifying trials.

Potential Olympic Games competitors from among those currently participating for Big Eight teams and those from the past few years are many, in all sports, including several who will undoubtedly win coveted spots for their native foreign countries.

Topping any list right now would have to be such current Big Eight stars as Oklahoma State's Jim Bolding, Kansas State's Jerome Howe, and Colorado's George Daniels (Ghana) in track; Kansas' Tom Kivisto, Missouri's John Brown, and Oklahoma's Scott Martin in basketball; Iowa State's Ben Peterson and Carl Adams, and Oklahoma State's Yoshiro Fujita (Japan) in wrestling; and Iowa State's Russ Hoffman in gymnastics.

Only time will tell who will be representing this Conference. Those who do, however, will again attest to the Conference's national and international prestige. This 13-month "year" will be long and, for most, quite without attention.

One can be sure that somewhere among those swimmers, gymnasts, wrestlers, basketballers, or runners and weightmen there lurk gold medal winners at Munich. Give them your support. Take a chance on a sneak preview—go out and watch them perform.

NOTRE DAME '66 vs NEBRASKA '70?

Ever wondered how Notre Dame's great Hanratty-Seymour sophomore combination would have scored against last year's Number One Nebraska team? It's the kind of "dream" match-up we'll never see played on the field. But SPORTS ILLUSTRATED has come up with the next best thing—an amazingly accurate College Football Game that features 32 of the greatest college teams of the past decade. Based on a complete analysis of every play run by each of these teams during their outstanding seasons, the SI College Football Game lets you coach and quarterback your favorites under the most realistic game conditions possible. Since each team's strengths and weaknesses have been realistically integrated into the game, you can enjoy all the strategy, options and suspense of college football and find out what would happen if you were calling your team's offense and defensive plays. Color-coded Play/Action Charts for the following teams are included:

DANGEROUS DUCKS

BOBBY MOORE: Labeled "The Super One" by the Oregon press book, Bobby Moore is certainly that. In two seasons, he has set 12 Oregon game, season and career records in rushing, pass receiving and scoring. The 6'2", 212 lb. senior from Tacoma, Wash., caught 54 passes as a flanker in 1969, 10 for touchdowns and he went on to score a record 92 points. Switched to tailback last year, he picked up 924 yards rushing, breaking Dallas Cowboy star Mel Renfro's record. He could be the best running back the Huskers face in 1971.

DAN FOUTS: All Dan Fouts did in his rookie season as the Oregon quarterback was either tie or break every game, and season passing and total offense record in the Oregon books—completely overshadowing such all-time Duck greats as Norm Van Brocklin, George Shaw and Bob Berry. Playing in the quarterback-rich Pac-8, Fouts completed 188 of 361 passes for 2,390 yards and 16 touchdowns, all Oregon records. His 2,333 yards of total offense is another record.

TOM GRAHAM: 6'3", 243 lb. linebacker Tom Graham ranks as one of the top defenders in the nation. In his first two seasons with the Ducks, he was named to the All Coast team. As a sophomore in 1969, Tom was credited with 206 tackles, 105 unaided. His top effort came in the Oregon State game when he accounted for 41 tackles, 24 unaided, blocked a field goal and recovered a fumble.

LELAND GLASS: Glass enjoyed a superb season as flanker last year, catching 45 passes for 659 yards and four touchdowns. His 45 receptions tied him with teammate Bobby Moore for second on the Ducks' squad and fourth among Pac-8 reception leaders. He presently ranks seventh on Oregon's career receiving list with 54 receptions for 819 yards and five touchdowns.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON

The University of Oregon is a young university — not yet 100 years old. However, Oregon will celebrate its 100 year centennial starting January, 1972.

Organized by an act of the Oregon Legislature in 1872, University of Oregon did not begin operations until 1876. The first campus consisted of one building (Deady Hall) and the student body numbered 177 with a faculty of five.

Today, the University has an enrollment of 15,500 students, including more than 3,000 graduate students. There are more than 1,000 faculty members. In addition, 1,200 students are enrolled in the University's Medical, Dental and Nursing Schools located on the Portland Campus. To accommodate the rapid growth from an enrollment of less than 5,000 a little more than ten years ago, educational programs have been expanded and many new buildings have risen on the 250-acre Eugene campus.

The University of Oregon is one of seven schools in the State System of Higher Education and holds primary responsibility for instruction in liberal arts and numerous professional schools.

Included in the University are the College of Liberal Arts, the Graduate School and seven professional schools, all on the Eugene campus, and the schools of Medicine and Dentistry in Portland. Professional training is offered in Architecture and Allied Arts, Business Administration, Education, Health and Physical Education, Journalism, Law and Music.

Oldest of the professional schools is the School of Law, which was first established as a night law school in Portland in 1884 and was later moved to the Eugene campus.

While large enough to rank among the leading universities in the West, the University of Oregon is small enough to permit individual attention to students' problems and provide opportunities for campus leadership that are not possible in larger schools. The main campus is located in Eugene at the head of the Willamette Valley, 110 miles south of Portland, and is a community of 78,000 in an urban area of about 175,000. This setting is ideal for the student seeking a non-metropolitan educational atmosphere.

Oregon's Honors College, a full four-year college, is unique in public higher education. Established in 1960, the Honors College offers superior students the advantages of a small, high-quality liberal arts college combined with the resources of a large university.

The University Library is the largest university library in Oregon and one of the largest in the Pacific Northwest.

The University's Museum of Art is the largest art museum of any state university campus in the United States. The museum, housing the Murray Warner Collection of Oriental Art and other University art collections, was built in 1930.

Automobile dealers in Nebraska are contributing a large measure of help to the University of Nebraska athletic program through the loan of courtesy cars.

Like other programs which are a part of the Cornhusker booster group activities, this project enables the Nebraska Athletic Department to make greater use of its funds.

These sports-minded dealers around the state have earned a great debt of gratitude from the University of Nebraska Athletic Department. They are an important part of the "team" that includes players, coaches, administration, faculty, staff, students, alumni, Husker Educational Award group, Touchdown Club, Extra Point Club, Beef Club and the courtesy car program.

THE TOUCHDOWN CLUB OF NEBRASKA

One of the groups most instrumental in helping the University of Nebraska Athletic Department grow in the field of inter-collegiate sports is the Nebraska Touchdown Club.

Contributions from TD Club members have enabled the Cornhuskers to build a fine grant-in-aid program and continued support from the Touchdown Club, and groups like the Husker Achievement Awards, the Extra Point Club, and the Cornhusker Beef Club, will insure that the Nebraska Cornhuskers will always hold a prominent place in the college sports world.

The University of Nebraska Athletic Department salutes the many members of the Touchdown Club and takes this opportunity to say a sincere "Thank You."

Touchdown Club members contributing $100 or more are:

BIG RED CHANT

"HAIL VARSITY"

Chorus

Hail to the team,
The stadium rings as everyone sings
the Scarlet and Cream,
Cheers for a victory
Echo our loyalty;
So on, mighty men
The eyes of the land, upon ev'ry hand, are looking at you.
Fight on for victory
Hail the men of Nebraska U

THE CORNHUSKER

Come a-runnin' boys
Don't you hear that noise
Like the thunder in the sky,
How it rolls along
In the good old song
For the sons of Nebraska;
Now it's coming near
With a rising cheer
That will sweep all foes away,
So, with all our vim,
We are bound to win
And we're going to win today.

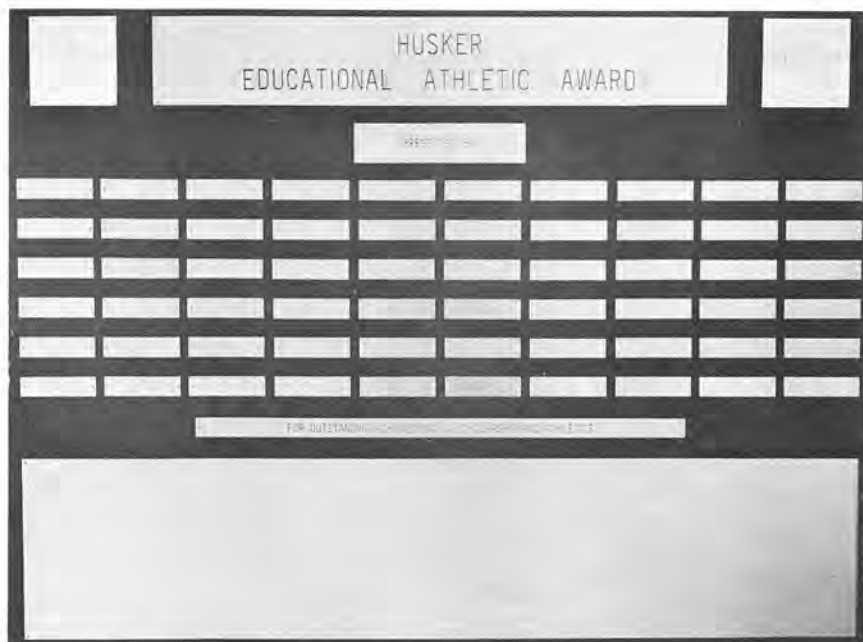

Chorus

For Nebraska and the Scarlet
For Nebraska and the Cream,
Tho they go through many a battle
Our colors still are seen
So in contest and in victory
We will wave them for the team
And 'twill always stir a Cornhusker,
The old Scarlet and Cream.

DEAR OLD NEBRASKA U

There is no place like Nebraska,
Dear old Nebraska U
Where the girls are the fairest,
The boys are the squarest
Of any old school that I knew,
There is no place like Nebraska
Where they're all true blue
We'll all stick together
In all kinds of weather
For dear old Nebraska U.

Cornhusker Educational and Athletic Award Program

Presented in Bronze Plaques

An appreciation plaque is located in the lobby of the Coliseum.

The Husker Educational Athletic Award program is a program established nine years ago under the joint sponsorship of the University of Nebraska Alumni Association, the University of Nebraska Foundation, and the University of Nebraska Department of Intercollegiate Athletics. It is a worthwhile attempt on the part of these organizations to help provide a stabilized athletic program for your state university. It has met with enthusiastic support from business leaders all over Nebraska and from other friends of the University.

All grants are under the rules and regulations of the NCAA and Big Eight Conference and meet the approval of the Faculty Committee on Scholarships. The awards are based upon scholarship character, and athletic participation.
